PRESS RELEASE for immediate release

Ashridge Security Management secures prestigious business award 'Most Promising Business' 2014

Security Management company steals first prize in Chamber of Commerce 'Inspiring Herts' Business Awards

Aylesbury, Bucks, 16th May 2014

Ashridge Security Management today announced that it has won a prestigious business award and been named 'Most Promising Business 2014' by Hertfordshire Chamber of Commerce in the 'Inspiring Hertfordshire Awards'.

The security company based in Aylesbury has clients across the UK and a team of over 100 professional security operatives. Recently featured on regional radio Phoenix FM, the company is a respected industry leader in terms of advances in security management.

Founded in July 2012 and managed by Emma and Mark Walker, the company offers a broad range of security services putting it at the forefront of today's technologically advanced and security conscious world. From it's headquarters in Wingrave, Bucks, the SIA accredited company analyses each client's requirements before creating a bespoke security solution which could include security guarding, surveillance, close protection, event management, key holding and mobile patrols. With an affiliation to Crimestoppers, Ashridge Security Management is the choice of discerning clients across the UK. The company is also short-listed to win an FSB Business Award for 'Best New Business 2014'.

On receiving the award, Ashridge Security Management Chief Executive Emma Walker noted "Being commended for our professionalism is satisfying and the judges also remarked how well we future-proof our client solutions. As our clients themselves grow, our bespoke security solutions grow with them to provide a comprehensive solution that meets our clients' needs now and in the future."
